Continued Growth Leads to Added Staff at Spancrete Illinois Location

Waukesha, Wis. (January 9, 2007) – The Spancrete Group, Inc., long recognized as the leader in the precast/prestressed concrete industry, recently promoted a long-term employee and hired two new staff members in response to strong business growth.

Dean Donaghy was promoted to assistant general manager for Spancrete's production facility in Crystal Lake, Ill. Donaghy is a graduate of ITT Technical Institute and has 15 years of related experience. In his new role, Donaghy is responsible for directing and coordinating all phases of production at the facility. Prior to his promotion, Donaghy served as a field supervisor and drafter for the Illinois markets.

Harold Pry was hired as a field superintendent for the Illinois precast market. Pry is a graduate of Texas Tech and has 12 years of related precast experience, most recently serving as an erection foreman and field supervisor. In his new role, Pry provides on-site direction and coordination of the erection department and ensures the timely and safe completion of all projects.

Ron Klafka was hired as a field superintendent for the Illinois precast market. In his new role, Klafka is responsible for directing and coordinating all daily erection and project operations. With more than 35 years of construction and project management experience and a degree in engineering from Columbia University, Klafka is currently working toward a master's degree in construction. He is also a member of the National Fire Protection Association (NFPA), Indoor Air Quality Association (IAQA) and the International Concrete Restoration Association (ICRA).
