

Municipal and judicial buildings are at the heart of how a community runs. Used by the public for many purposes, they need to be safe, versatile and economical. Spancrete® offers the solutions needed to make the most of these important buildings.

Build For The Future

Taxpayer-funded properties need to be efficient and durable, and building safety is always a top priority. Spancrete delivers buildings that stand the test of time, with minimal maintenance requirements in the future. Spancrete building solutions provide the lowest lifetime operation cost when compared to other building materials. Buildings constructed with precast are fire, weather and blast resistant, energy efficient and have low maintenance, cutting down on upkeep costs and protecting against damage. Saving money in the long run without sacrificing quality is the goal, and Spancrete makes that a reality.

Take The Pressure Off

With tight budgets and hundreds of opinions, planning and constructing a new municipal building can be even more stressful than a normal project. Thankfully, not only does Spancrete supply superior materials, but we will also work with your team throughout the entire process. From planning and design to execution to maintenance, we are available to help you reach your goals and complete your project on time and on budget.

Designed For Your Needs

Municipal buildings often require versatility, and Spancrete design flexibility and innovative products meet your building application needs. Spancrete building solutions are used in police and fire stations, garages, community centers, transit centers, justice facilities and water treatment facilities. Rapid, year-round construction allows for flexibility with your schedule. And with outstanding acoustics, Spancrete building solutions reduce noise, a welcome feature in busy offices and meeting spaces.

The Spancrete® Difference

Our building solutions are versatile and durable, helping your vision come to life. Completing a successful municipal building project requires the best of both worlds. Within a rigid budget, you need an attractive building that can thrive in the community for decades to come. Spancrete will work with your team to make it all happen. Building with precast also accommodates rapid construction schedules and offers lower maintenance costs, so your building will be up and running in no time. Though the stakes are high, you will breathe easy knowing that together, we have created a building that makes your community a better place for today and tomorrow.
